

NIGHT # 24

Highlights from Surah Az-Zariyaat means winds that scatter. The Day of Judgment is a reality. Disbelievers will be punished that Day. They will be punished in the Fire. Muttaqeen will be rewarded that Day. Muttaqeen are the doers of good. The whole purpose of life is to worship Allah^{SWT}.

Highlights from Surah At-Toor means the blessed mountain whereupon Prophet Musa^{AS} received the laws from Allah^{SWT}. Muttaqeen (the pious) will be rewarded with Paradise. The disbelievers are challenged to reason hard for their stubbornness against the Message. Advice to RasulAllah^{SAW} on how to deal with anxiety. Inhabitants of Paradise will experience the Mercy of Allah.

Highlights from Surah An-Najm means The Star. The Stars shed their meteorites to kill devils who are trying to steal information from heavens. This is the first Surah that the Prophet^{SAW} recited publicly in an assembly of believers and disbelievers alike, including the chiefs of Quraish. When at the last Ayah, which required Sajdah Tilawah, he fell down in prostration, the whole assembly fell down in prostration, and even the chiefs of Mushrikeen who were in the front row could not resist falling down in prostration.

Highlights from Surah Al-Qamar means The Moon, refers to the incidence of the splitting of the moon. The local people asked the Prophet^{SAW} to do a miracle of splitting the moon for them to believe in him. With Allah's permission, the moon was split so far apart that to the observers one part looked on one side of the mountain and the other part on the other side. Yet they called it a magical illusion and did not believe.

Highlights from Surah Ar-Rahman is one of Allah^{SWT}'s attributes: Mercy. His Mercy is vast and eternal. This is the only Surah in Qur'an in which Allah SWT has addressed both men and jinn, proving that the Muhammad^{SAW} and the Qur'an were meant for both.

Highlights from Surah Al-Waqiah means The Inevitable Event and refers to the Day of Judgment. The Surah starts with a description of the event of the Day of Judgment.